During the coming monsoon, such instruments will be left off from the Government observatory, Nungambakam, Madras, and may fall at considerable distances from there.

In order to recover the instrument with its record, a label is usually attached to the protecting cage of the instrument directing the finder to take it to the nearest Tahsildar or other local revenue authority who is in turn requested to pay a reward of rupees two to the finder plus a reasonable sum to meet the expenses incurred by the finder in taking the balloon to the Tahsildar or other Revenue Officer. The Tahsildar or other officer intimates the recovery of the instrument to the Meteorological Office, Poona, which arranges to get back the instrument and defray all expenses incurred in this connexion by the Revenue officers concerned.

The co-operation of Tahsildars and other Revenue Officers in recovering the instrument will be very much appreciated.

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

Fort St. George, June 4, 1932.

No. 202.—Considering the large quantities of different varieties of Printers' inks imported into the country and also the rapid expansion of the printing trade in the Presidency, the Government considered it desirable to start experiments on the manufacture of Printers' inks in the Government Industrial Institute, Washermanpet, Madras. The early experiments conducted were with imported lampblack but owing to high manufacturing costs, experiments for producing lampblack locally were undertaken and conducted successfully—the local product is now used in the manufacture of the inks. The printing inks manufactured have been appreciated by the local presses, including the Government Press, and the Superintendent of Stationery recently placed a large order with the Institute for superior quality News Ink. Owing to the financial stringency, however, Government have decided to discontinue further work on these experiments.

The plant, machinery and some raw materials are available for purchase by any private individual or firm desirous of continuing the manufacture of cheap quality printing inks and of conducting experiments on superior qualities. Tenders are now invited for the outright purchase of the plant and materials. The working recipes evolved in the Institute will be made available to the successful tenderer. Sealed tenders superscribed "Tender for the purchase of the Government Printing Ink Machinery and Plant" should be submitted to the Director of Industries so as to reach him before the 22nd of June 1932. Particulars of the machinery and plant, etc., and permission to inspect them can be obtained on application to the Director of Industries, Post Box No. 432, Chepauk, Madras. Government do not bind themselves to accept the highest tender but reserve full liberty of disposing of the assets as they see fit.

No. 205.—The rules for the regulation of water at the Lower Anicut approved in G.O. No. 677 I., dated 19th December 1914, lay down a system of turns for the Vadavar, the North and South Rajan channels and the Kumakkumannar. Since the issue of these rules, the Vadavar has been widened and improved and can draw off more water than before. The rules refer only to the four sources above mentioned but the proportion of supply ordered in them is based on the ayacuts mentioned in G.O. No. 400 I., dated 24th September 1909 which include the ayacut under the Khan Sahib's canal in South Arcot. Again, though it has been the practice to supplement the supply to the Veeranam tank by water from the anicut when the supply at the anicut is in excess of the requirements of the ayacuts directly dependent on it, the rules do not specify what supply should be given to the Veeranam tank from the anicut. As a result of these circumstances representations have been made to Government that the distribution of water at the anicut should be made on an equitable basis to suit the present state of things.

2 The revision of the rules has been under consideration for some time. It was discussed at a conference held in June 1912, presided over by the Commissioner of Land Revenue and Settlement, and again at a conference presided over by the Hon'ble the Revenue Member in November 1931 at which the ryots of both districts were given an opportunity to represent their case. In pursuance of these discussions, it has been decided to hold the existing turn system of distribution in abeyance and to introduce a system of distribution proportionate to the ayacuts of the five channels dependent on the system, experimentally for a period of two years, and to lay down definitely that the Veeranam tank should be given a supply in certain circumstances. In modification of the rules laid down in G.O. No. 677 I., dated 19th December 1914, the Government approve the appended rules for the regulation of water at the Lower Anicut. For the purposes of these rules the registered wet ayacut (including ryotwari wet), minor inam wet in Government villages and lands in estates entitled to free irrigation) of fasli 1340, for the several channels has been taken as the basis. These extents and the supply at 50 daily which is to be given under the revised rules are given below :—

Name of channel.	Ayacut in acres.	Discharge in cusecs
(1) Vadavar	18,198	203
(2) Khan Sahib's canal ..	41,316	670
(3) North Rajan channel ..	22,615
(4) South Rajan channel ..	31,322	423
(5) Kumakkumannar ..	1,260	28

3. The Government direct that no extension of irrigation under any of the sources affected by the Lower Coleroon Anicut system should be permitted by the Collector, either of Tanjore or of South Arcot district. If the Collector of either district should consider any extension necessary he should apply to the Board of Revenue who will pass orders after consulting the Collector of the other districts.

ANNEXURE.

DRAFT REVISED RULES FOR REGULATION OF WATER AT THE LOWER ANICUT.

1. The regulation of water at the Lower Anicut shall be in the hands of the Superintending Engineer, Tanjore Circle.

2 In no case shall the water be allowed to overtop the shutters.

3. When freshes come down the river, the anicut shutters shall be kept closed until the water rises to the top thereof. Should the water continue to rise, the shutters shall be so regulated as to maintain a front reading of 9 feet but if for the purpose of filling the Veeranam tank with reference to clauses (b) and (d) of rule 5 a higher front reading is considered necessary, the shutters may be so regulated as to maintain a front reading not exceeding 10½ feet.

4 In carrying out the provisions of rule 3, the five shutters adjacent to the North Rajan channel and the five adjacent to the South Rajan channel shall be raised first by 6" with a view to keeping the heads of these channels clear of sand.

5 Should the water tend to rise above the front reading of 9 or 10½ feet, as the case may be, specified in rule 3, the under sluices shall be fully opened, and if this is not found sufficient, all the shutters shall be gradually and uniformly raised, until they are clear.

6. Whenever the front gauge reads 18 feet the Overseer at the Lower Anicut shall intimate the fact to the Overseer at the Grand Anicut by telephone, stating whether water is rising, falling or steady. When the front gauge reads 17 feet and again when it reads 13 feet the Overseer at the Lower Anicut shall take the same action.

7. When water finally begins to fall after a flood, the same procedure as that laid down for a rising flood, shall be followed but in the reverse order.

8 During the first crop season, the distribution of water shall be regulated as follows :—

(a) When and as long as the supply of water in the Coleroon at the Lower Anicut does not exceed 1,330 cusecs, the supply shall be distributed to the Vadavar, North Rajan, South Rajan and Kumakkumannar channels in the proportion of 203 : 670 : 423 : 28, respectively.

(b) When and so long as the supply exceeds 1,330 cusecs and the Veeranam tank is not full, 670, 423 and 28 cusecs shall be supplied to the North Rajan, South Rajan and Kumakkumannar channels, respectively, and the balance shall be supplied to the Vadavar, until the Veeranam tank is filled.

(c) When and so long as the supply exceeds 1,330 cusecs and the Veeranam tank is full, the supply shall be distributed to the Vadavar, North Rajan, South Rajan and Kumakkumannar channels in the proportion of 203 : 670 : 423 : 28 cusecs, respectively.

(d) When the Veeranam tank ceases to be full and the supply still exceeds 1,330 cusecs, the arrangement in clause (b) shall be brought into force until the tank is filled again or the supply falls to 1,330 cusecs or less.

(e) As soon as the supply falls to 1,330 cusecs or less the arrangement in clause (a) shall be brought into force until the supply again exceeds 1,330 cusecs.

9. During the second crop season, all available supplies in the river shall be distributed to the Vadavar, North Rajan and South Rajan channels in the proportion of 1 : 1 : 2, respectively. The quantity required for the small extent of second crop under the Kumukkumanalar shall be passed from the allowance made for the South Rajan channel.

10. The season for the first and second crops shall be fixed every year by the Superintending Engineer, Tanjore Circle, with due regard to the seasonal conditions thereof and to the date of arrival at the Lower Anicut of the first freshes in the Coleroon for the transplantation of the first crop.

11. Throughout the short supply season, leakage under the shutters shall be prevented as far as possible, by means of clay and straw.

12. In order to get rid of abnormal shoals above the anicut, any of the shutters may be worked as scouring sluices.

He must be free from any injury or wound which would entail any degree of functional incapacity which might interfere with the safe handling of aircraft at any altitude even in the case of prolonged or difficult flight. He must be completely free from hernia, must not suffer from any detectable sensory lesion, and must be free from a history or morbid mental or nervous trouble.

(ii) The applicant will be questioned concerning his family and personal history.

(iii) Examination of the nervous system.—The examination of the nervous system of the applicant shall comprise a full inquiry into family and personal history. The information obtained shall be given in a statement made and signed by the applicant and accompanied, if possible, by a certificate in regard especially to losses of consciousness, fits and convulsions of all kinds, from the applicant's ordinary medical adviser or a responsible person who has known him for a long time. This statement and this certificate must be deemed satisfactory by the examining medical officer. The applicant must not present any mental or trophic impairment, pathological tremor, or presumptive avoidance of latent epilepsy. Motility, sensibility, tendinous, cutaneous and pupillary reflexes, co-ordination of movements and cerebellar functions, must be normal. An exception may be made for local peripheral trouble due to accidental section of a nerve branch.

Fractures of the cranium involving the internal table of the cranial box, even without apparent impairment, will entail temporary unfitness during a period of two years from the date of the fracture. Any presumed nervous symptoms will entail rejection, unless the non-existence of such an impairment is proved by an examination of the blood and an examination of the cerebro spinal fluid, made with the consent of the applicant.

(iv) Applicants may not be less than 19 or more than 45 years of age.

(v) General Surgical Examination.—The applicant must neither suffer from any wound or injury, nor have undergone any operation, nor possess any abnormality, congenital or acquired, which might interfere with the safe handling of aircraft at any altitude, even in the case of prolonged or difficult flight. Palpation of the abdomen and abdominal viscera particularly the pyloric, vesicular, duodenal and appendicular regions, whenever it reveals any swelling or distinct pain, must be completed by a radioscopic and radiographic examination.

Any surgical intervention of the biliary passages or the digestive tube, except appendicitis, involving a total or partial excision or a diversion of one of these organs any anatomical lesion in the walls of any part whatever of the digestive tube, any stricture of its calibre, any calculus or foreign body, any peritoneal lesion, established by clinical or laboratory examinations, will entail rejection. Exception may be made for spasmodic strictures not accompanied by other trouble and for ptoses compensated by a good abdominal musculature. Diseases of the liver (including those of the biliary passages) and of the pancreas will in cases where it is deemed necessary be verified by laboratory examination particularly by radiography as well as by an examination of the blood and of the urine, and will entail rejection only if they afford indication of the existence of a calculus, tumour or lesion involving a persistent impairment of function of these organs.

(vi) General Medical Examination.—The applicant must not suffer from any disease or disability which renders him liable suddenly to become incompetent in the management of aircraft. His muscular power must be adequate for the handling of the types of aircraft he will have to pilot or the apparatus he is to use. He must not have any signs of aneurism of the large arterial trunks, nor have any cardiac lesion, even if well compensated; the heart must be normal, with normal function, and only respiratory arhythmia, increase of pulse rate from excitement or exercise and a general slow pulse not associated with auriculo-ventricular dissociation will be allowed.

The applicant must not suffer from any acute disability of the lungs, nor possess any cicatricial lesion of the lungs, and must be free from tuberculosis capable of being diagnosed by the usual clinical methods, from tracheobronchial disease of the glands, and from pulmonary emphysema, even if slight. However, with regard to the maintenance of the applicant's efficiency, pulmonary emphysema will entail rejection only when the pulmonary capacity falls below three and half litres at rest after full exhalation and inhalation and when the duration of the breath holding falls at rest below fifty seconds, or only forty seconds if the candidate is less than 5 feet or is of the female sex. In addition, each examination shall include a radioscopy record in doubtful clinical cases. The applicant must not present any signs of organic disease of the kidneys; those latter must be insensitive to palpation and of normal size. Renal ptosis will entail rejection; this rule, however, will not apply as regards the maintenance of efficiency if no functional trouble is involved. The urine must not contain any pathological element. Affections of the urinary passages and of the genital organs, even blennorrhœa, may entail temporary or definite unfitness. An exception being allowed as regards the maintenance of efficiency in the case of tuberculous orchi-epididymitis in its mild and localised form.

Applicants of the female sex must present a normal uterus and appendages. Cases in which surgical intervention has taken place will be considered individually. Any presumed pregnancy will entail rejection. Following confinement or miscarriage, the holder of a licence will be allowed to resume her air duties only after having undergone a fresh medical examination. The applicant must not present any clinical signs of syphilis.

Dysentery shall be considered as an acute disease; provided that a presumption of dysenteric infection shall entail rejection, unless the medical examiner considers that the clinical phenomena have disappeared.

(vii) Eye Examination.—The applicant must possess a degree of visual acuity compatible with the efficient performance of his duties. Binocular vision, ocular poise, the field of vision of each eye and colour perception must be normal. Pilots must possess without correction by glasses, visual acuity equal to at least 80 per cent of the normal visual acuity for each eye taken separately, or 90 per cent for one eye and 70 per cent for the other, the visual acuity being measured by means of standard test types powerfully illuminated in such a manner that the light does not shine directly into the eyes of the examinee. Navigators must possess the same visual acuity, but with correction by glasses if necessary.

The applicant must possess an auditory acuity not less than that corresponding with the normal perception of the tuning forks C (1) 64 vibrations per second, C (3) 256 vibrations per second and C (7) 4,096 vibrations per second, the forks being held perpendicularly to the ground one centimetre from the auditory tube. The vestibular mechanism must be intact and not hypersensitive; it must be equal on both sides.

(ix) Nose, Throat and Mouth Examination.—The applicant must possess free nasal and tubal air entry on both sides and must not suffer from serious, acute or chronic affections of the buccal cavity or upper respiratory tract.

Provided that a person who does not satisfy the whole of the above medical requirements may, at the discretion of the Governor-General in Council, be accepted as eligible for the issue of a licence, so far as medical requirements are concerned, if he has previously been found medically fit for flying in accordance with the above requirements.

(b) An applicant for the renewal of a licence will be required to undergo a medical examination conducted by specially qualified medical officers appointed by or acting under the authority of the Governor-General in Council. This examination will be based on the requirements set out in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph, but certain relaxations of non-essential requirements thereof may be made at the discretion of the Governor-General in Council.

Provided that if the person applying for the renewal is temporarily resident in a region distant from official medical centres, the periodical examination which he should normally pass under the conditions of this paragraph may exceptionally, at the discretion of the Governor-General in Council, be deferred twice for consecutive periods of three months each, on condition that he obtains locally on each occasion a satisfactory medical certificate after having been examined by a qualified medical officer.

(c) In order to ensure the maintenance of efficiency, every holder of a licence shall be re-examined and pronounced fit before resuming air duties —

(i) Whenever he has performed a total of 125 hours flying in the capacity of pilot of a flying machine within any period of 30 consecutive days since his last medical examination under these directions.
